Cllr O'Brien – Suffolk County Council / SCDC Council – written report

County Council Report

August, as everyone is aware, is the month when most people go on holiday and thus, SCC councillors, although not on holiday, have very few committees and engagement. This give us all a time to recharge our batteries and catch up with, in my case, jobs about the house and seeing family; as a result, not too much to report.

However, as you will know SCC has been working very hard to drive up educational standards in Suffolk, we are, unfortunately, still trailing, but the school that have changed from three tier to two tier, have seen improvements in their results and in the latest A level results, 1% of pupils in Suffolk, compared with the national average of 0.7%, gained places at Oxford and Cambridge. Further, the findings of a recent report, aimed to driving up educational standards, is out for consultation and a response will be forthcoming after debate at Full Council in September. (Both A level and GCSE results showed a marked improvement in results.)

Trading Standards have had success in bringing a case against 5 people who conned 17,000 people out of £5.7m through a series of scams involving money laundering and fraud.

Local funding is available.

District Council Report

SCDC has informed all parishes of the re-warding of the district. Parishes have received information and have been asked for their views.

Consultation is a good idea but I think quite difficult for parishes to come up with a warding scheme for their parish. Consultation with neighbouring parishes would be sensible, if you have particular ideas, but then that leads to more discussion and could become quite lengthy.

It might be a good notion to look at the former arrangement that I represented when first becoming a councillor, ie Kirton/Falkenham, Newbourne, Hemley, Waldringfield, Levington/Stratton Hall, Nacton. This totals 2225 electors which is within the 10% plus or minus range (2178-2662).

I have sent all parishes a copy of the briefing note regarding the closure of the A14 Copdock to Seven Hills – late September early October. This is for maintenance and repair work. The section should be closed from 10 pm – 6 am.

Syria

Dear Therese

I have very serious concerns regarding the possibility of British intervention in the Syrian civil war and I welcome this opportunity to express them.

Firstly whilst 'taking out', with surgical airstrikes chemical plants that produce biological weapons, can be viewed as a humane act is understandable, the consequences of such acts are unknown and strikes, no matter how laudable, could be perceived as an act of war. This is a murderous civil war with atrocities on both sides. To enter into such a conflict, albeit with the right intentions, is, I believe, risking being drawn deeper and deeper into a war that we do not and cannot control.

Intervention in Iraq, ten years ago, has not brought stability to the region and Afghanistan is further proof against the Western misreading of the Middle East. I fear retaliation against Britain at some point, would be a likely consequence.

Secondly, if as a result of airstrikes the situation escalated, Britain is not in a 19c position whereupon it could dispatch its army to contain a 'little local difficulty'. Our armed forces are being cut dramatically and we would not be able to commit to a length, sustainable conflict.

Finally, I believe the Russians are key. Russia is an arms supplying ally of Syria and President Putin must be urged to put pressure on Syria. I know that the recent meeting between Presidents Obama and Putin was suspended/abandoned/unsuccessful because of an inability to come to agreement; it was every thus during the Cold War. I thought we had moved on!

Therese, I believe the situation is volatile and dangerous. To intervene is folly and I urge you to take seriously my concerns.

With regards

Patricia O'Brien
SCC Martlesham

Cllr V Falconer – Suffolk Coastal District Council

The Nacton Ward is being squeezed either side from the constant threat of development and currently in the pipeline is the proposed development for three hundred houses at Trinity park plus two new roundabouts along the Felixstowe Road (A1156) and a second Solar Panel Farm covering 60 acres outside Waldringfield – the first Solar Panel Farm covering 60 acres was approved and is about to be developed just outside Levington on the Bucklesham side of the A14. A balance is required between much needed renewable energy and agricultural land required for food production. 25 houses are currently being built just off the Bucklesham Road.

In addition, there is a proposal for 190 houses and a new Tesco's at Walton, 66 dwellings on the old Mushroom Farm site at Trimley, a further supermarket at the station in Felixstowe and a smaller one near the docks.

2,100 dwellings at Adastral Park, together with a 80 bedded hotel and the possible development of Innocence Farm's 200 acre site into a substantial industrial site for containers, warehousing and a possible rail terminal. There is little mention of improvements to our road, hospital or school infrastructure.

Changes to the Ward Boundaries

Out of the five meetings that have and are being held, I have only been to one – last week – where the discussions were very open and thought provoking.

Certainly there is a lot of discussion to get the boundaries right eg about 2,450 constituents per member plus + or – 10%. They are now talking of reducing the number of members from 43 to 42 from the present 55.

There was talk that Brightwell could come under Martlesham because of Sheep Drift Farm and all its small businesses. There was also talk of Kirton and Falkenham coming to the Nacton Ward with the possibility of Purdis being a lone Ward. Two days later at another meeting which I was not at, I understand that Purdis was linked with Nacton and Levington making 2015 predicted figure of 1362. All the other parishes in the Nacton Ward plus Kirton and Falkenham make for 2422 constituents and would be a two Ward.

If Purdis were to be a lone Ward – the numbers quoted last week did not take into account the huge development of 300 houses on Trinity Park resulting in about 600 people being added to the 2015 predicted figure of 1530 = 2130.

It was agreed that an item should be placed on next month's agenda – Ward Boundaries. Action: Clerk

147.13 Clerk's Report

The Clerk's report had previously been circulated and it was agreed that some of the items should be discussed as per the agenda.

Quality of Life Budget

Cllr O'Brien's budget for the Quality of Life Scheme for 2013/2014 is £8,891 and she would like to be made aware of any low cost schemes ie road signs, lines etc that the Parish Council believe would benefit the village. Cllr O'Brien will be meeting with Suffolk County Council Highway Officers late September.

SALC LAIS 1355 – Spending Review

Local Councils will have been considering the impact of the Government 2013 Spending Review (which relates to 2015/16). The impact of the cuts and changes in public service expenditure have already been felt by local councils and communities and the prospect of further cuts and changes could bring considerable further changes in the way services are delivered. This LAIS provides an overview of the Spending Review statement and is also helpful background to LAIS 1356 which covers a report from the Local Government Association on the changes that they believe are needed to help respond to the Spending Review. A glance at some of the headline figures will leave local councils in no doubt about the scale of the spending.

Review Statements:

- Until 2017/2018 the total amount of government spending will continue to fall in real terms at the same average rate as today.
- Total government expenditure for 2015/16 will be £745bn but Government says it needs £11.5bn of further savings, some £5bn of which will come from efficiency savings.
- Public sector pay rises will be limited to an average of up to 1% for 2015/16 and automatic progression pay in the civil service will be ended by 2015/16. Government aims to remove automatic pay rises for time served for staff in schools, NHS, prisons and the police – but not in the armed forces.
- The Office for Budget Responsibility forecasts that the total number of people working for the government will fall by a further 144,000 by 2015/16 signalling massive job cuts in central and local government.
- More than £3bn will be diverted to capital investment in affordable housing. In total more than £300bn will be invested in total in infrastructure including roads, railways, bridges, broadband, science and schools by 2020.
- A 10% cut in funding for principal local authorities will follow the 33% reduction in their budgets for the 2011/15 period. This could mean renewed threats to libraries, leisure centres, school support and other services.
- Inevitably the resultant loss and changes to public services will place increased demands on local councils and on voluntary and community organisations. This LAIS provides information on the Spending Review and provides some examples of actions that local councils might wish to consider.

SALC LAIS 1356 – Rewiring Public Services

Local councils faced with the economic climate, challenges to local government, shrinking public services, localism, potential automatic precept referendums and changes to the council tax system with new grant arrangements, to name a few of the challenges, will be interested in a report from the Local Government Association (LGA): Rewiring Public Services: Rejuvenating Democracy.

The LGA is a politically-led, influential, membership organisation that works on behalf of principal local authorities. Rewiring Public Services: Rejuvenating Democracy sets out how the LGA believes public services can be transformed through the local leadership of their members rebuilding democratic participation, fixing public services and revitalising the economy, without one mention of local (town and parish) councils. This will be surprising to local councils, as the most local tier of local government democracy, especially those which have been picking up any services and assets which have been dropped by the principal local authorities.

The document broadly pursues an agenda of greater local freedoms and decision-making but some of the propositions might have an impact on local councils e.g. the call for greater independence in council tax and financial arrangements and the building of the role of local principal local authority politicians in promoting healthy living. The underpinning concern is that according to the LGA: 'The current financial position of most councils is unsustainable in the long term. Unless something changes, communities will fail solely because of financial instability.' They base this understanding on what they know 'from the preparations for the one year spending round in 2015/16 and the likely position of local government following the general election.'

SALC LAIS 1357 – Renewable Energy Planning Guidance

Local councils will be aware that, historically, they were able to refer to and rely on a wide range of planning policy documents, most recently Planning Policy Statements, which contained general and specific policies and were important reference documents that helped councils to influence the nature of development in their area. Government then moved away from this system and integrated over 1000 pages of policy documents into one 59 page National Planning Policy Framework. A total of 44 documents were cancelled with implementation of the new Framework. Local councils are expected to rely increasingly on neighbourhood planning to help shape their area. Although this process could assist councils, it is a relatively lengthy and expensive process and is firmly set within the context of enabling development.

In the meantime, local councils are faced with divergent local planning decisions on a number of high profile controversial development plans. With no overarching national policy documents, local freedom has resulted not only in a lack of consistency in how development is treated in one planning area compared to another but has also meant unpredictability even in relation to decisions within the same planning authority where no local policy has been set out. This makes it difficult for local councils to make informed comments and positively and properly engage with the developer and the local planning authority in the planning application process.

Government has now produced a short document 'Planning practice guidance for renewable and low carbon energy' which promises to address certain problems experienced with developments such as wind turbines and solar parks. Local councils concerned about lack of Environmental Impact Assessments, inappropriate siting and use of agricultural land and lack of community engagement and benefit will be considering whether this document is helpful with ensuring that such developments are suitably sited and controlled in future.

Although the guidance provides only a little detail in its sparsely worded 14 pages, it does purport to answer the following important questions:

- How can local planning authorities develop a positive strategy to promote the delivery of renewable and low carbon energy?
- How can local planning authorities identify suitable areas for renewable and low carbon energy?
- What are the planning considerations that relate to specific renewable energy technologies?

Undoubtedly, as with all law and guidance, there will be room for differing interpretations, the guidance does at least attempt to address some concerns of local councils such as the need to ensure that local planning authorities consider the cumulative impact of their planning decisions on the environment in an area. Government urges local planning authorities to listen to communities but does not compel them, per se, to act on what they hear. Local councils will need to ensure that their recommendations are sufficiently compelling i.e. that they are based on strong environmental concerns and material planning considerations in order to make their representations sufficiently persuasive.

The planning guidance information quoted in this LAIS is available on the SALC website <http://salc.onesuffolk.net/login/members-area/toolkits/planning-guides/>.

Electoral Review of Suffolk Coastal – Guidance on Warding Patterns for Parish and Town Councils

An email has been received from SCDC informing Parish and Town Councils about the start of the warding consultation as part of the Electoral Review of Suffolk Coastal.

Councils can write to the Boundary Commission between now and the 1st October 2013 proposing their preferred warding pattern for SCDC. You can suggest a pattern of wards for the whole District or just the Parish Council's area of the District.
